Thinakkural

The Indian government must apologise to the people of the North and East for the Valvettithurai (Valvai) massacres committed by the Indian Peace Keeping Force (IPKF), according to N. Anantharaja, social activist and Secretary of the Valvettithurai Citizens' Committee. He stated that total compensation of Rs. 4.3 billion (USD 14.6 million) must be provided for the losses suffered. This statement was made at a book launch for a compensation recommendation report at the Jaffna Vadamarachchi Media House yesterday (13th), which detailed the massacres that took place in Valvettithurai in 1989. The report is based on hundreds of direct eyewitness statements recorded in 1989, as revealed by the International Truth and Justice Project (ITJP) in its recent report, 'Confessions of a Massacre'. The atrocities, which occurred over three days, involved the killing of at least 66 civilians and the destruction of 120 houses and 43 shops, with more than 250 houses damaged. The Valvettithurai Citizens' Committee has submitted a claim for USD 15 million (Rs. 4.3 billion) to the Office for Reparations in Sri Lanka, seeking overdue justice for survivors who have not received acknowledgment or remedy for the past 35 years.

Rathnayake emphasised that the delay in the provincial council elections is not the fault of the EC, but a consequence of legal issues arising from the new electoral system enacted by Parliament. The Supreme Court has repeatedly advised that the question of which electoral system to use must be settled by Parliament. Rathnayake stressed that provincial councils run by governors—direct representatives of the president—without an election is undemocratic. He added that the EC cannot undertake any election-related activities until the legal issue is settled, after which a date for the election in the first quarter of next year can be set.	People's Struggle Movement and the All Ceylon Farmers' Federation specifically organised this protest to coincide with the President's visit.
